DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-9 have been presented for examination. Claims 7-9 have been canceled in an amendment filed 09/15/2005. Claims 1-6 have been examined.

Priority

2. Acknowledgment is made that the instant application is a continuation of Application No. 09/287,699, filed 04/06/1999, now U.S. Patent No. 6,609,199 B1, which is a continuation-in-part of Application No. 09/266,207, filed 03/10/1999, which claims benefit of provisional Application No. 60/105,891, filed 10/26/1998.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-6 are allowed.

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 1-6 are drawn to a system. The closest prior art, Wilkinson et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,308,317 B1, discloses a similar system.

Wilkinson et al. depicts a system comprising:

a portable integrated circuit device (see column 7, lines 43-46; figure 1, item 10; where the integrated circuit card is a smart card) having stored thereon an authentication application (see column 15-19; figure 13, item 16; storing a Card Java Virtual Machine (Card JVM)) providing an authenticated application access) and a definition of a list of trusted applications (see column 17, lines 36-39; and access control list (ACL) stored in the integrated circuit card);
and

a computer, coupled to communicate with the portable integrated circuit device (see column 17, lines 65-67; column 18, lines 1-4; figure 13, items 10 and 14; a terminal with a single path between it and the integrated circuit card), to, form a secure connection between the portable integrated circuit device and an application running on the computer (see column 18, lines 1-6; figure 13, items 209, 10, 14, and 136; a secure channel provided by encryption with a one-time session key between the card application and the terminal application).

However, Wilkinson et al. neither shows nor suggests that the computer receives the list of trusted applications from the portable integrated circuit device, nor identifies to the portable integrated circuit device that the application is one of the applications in the list of trusted applications. This combination of features explicitly recited in independent claim 1 render claims 1-6 allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
